1. A geological commission headed by Professor Elemér Vadász of the Budapest Institute of Science, which included two Russian directors of the Russo-Hungarian oil company, has recently discovered oil deposits in the region of Borsod, in north-eastern Hungary.
2. Test borings near Mezőkövesd and Mezőkeresztes have been very satisfactory and, it is believed, that the new areas are richer in oil than the wells at Lispe.
3. Stringent security precautions are taken whenever new test borings are in operation.
